Façade

lighting arrangements and Selfie points at the station were also the key attractions during the week. Railway Officers and Staff, rail users and general public attended the events in large numbers.

President of India Attends Farewell Function in Central Hall of Parliament Parties Must Rise above a Partisan Approach and Consider What is Good, What is Essential for The Common Man and Woman, with The Spirit of 'Nation First': President Kovind PM attends farewell programme hosted for President Shri Ram Nath Kovind in Parliament

Chennai, July 24 2022: The President of India, Shri Ram Nath Kovind attended the farewell function in the Central Hall of Parliament today (July 23, 2022). Speaking on the occasion, the President said that he remains eternally grateful to the people of India and for giving him an opportunity to serve the country as President. What the Almighty had wanted him to accomplish could not have been accomplished without the support from all the elected representatives. He said that during his term, he had frequently interacted with them on various platforms and he had also met numerous delegations of parliamentarians and of people from other domains. During this period, he also got the opportunity of working with Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi and members of his Council of Ministers. He thanked all of them for the special regard they have given him. He also thanked

Vice-President Shri M. Venkaiah Naidu and Speaker Lok Sabha Shri Om Birla for the way they have conducted proceedings of Parliament and continued its great traditions. The President said that Article 79 of our Constitution provides for a Parliament consisting of the President and the two houses. In keeping with this constitutional provision and adding his sentiment to it, he looks at the President as an integral part of the Parliamentary family. As with any family, there are bound to be differences within this Parliamentary family too; there would be diverging views about how to proceed further. But we remain a family, and the interest of the nation remains our top priority. Political processes operate through the mechanism of party organisations, but the parties must rise above a partisan approach and consider what is good, what is essential for the common man and woman, with the spirit of 'nation first'. The President said that when we consider the whole nation as a family, we also understand that differences are bound to crop up once in a while. Such differences can be resolved peacefully and harmoniously through dialogue. Citizens and political parties have many constitutional avenues open to them, including protests. After all, the Father of our Nation employed the weapon of Satyagraha for that purpose. But he was equally concerned about the other side. Citizens have a right to protest to press for their demands, but it should always be in the peaceful Gandhian mould. The President said that looking back on his career in public service, and the efforts of the governments, we must accept that, although much has been achieved yet so much more remains to be done to raise the living standards of the marginalised. The country has been, slowly but surely, realising the dreams of Dr. Ambedkar. The President said that he grew up in a mud house, but far fewer children have to live in thatched houses with leaking roofs now. More and more of the poor people have been shifting to pucca houses, partly with the direct support from the government. Our sisters and daughters walking miles to fetch drinking water is becoming a thing of the past, because it is our endeavour that every house gets water from the tap. We have also installed toilets in every house, which are laying the foundation for building a clean and healthy India. Memories of lighting up lanterns and diyas after sunset are also fading as almost all villages have finally been provided electricity connections. The President said that as the basic necessities are taken care of, aspirations are changing too. The dreams of average Indians have got wings now. This has been made possible by good governance, which by definition is without any kind of discrimination. This all-round progress is in tune with what Babasaheb Ambedkar had visualised.

Union Home and Cooperation Minister Amit Shah on the first day of his two-day visit to Gujarat, inaugurated the State Level Command and Control Centre of Gujarat Police 'Trinetra' and other modern technical services under VISWAS project in Gandhinagar

Chennai, July 24 2022: In order to make Gujarat Police modern and techno-savvy and to increase public facilities, many important works have been dedicated by the Government of Gujarat.

As Chief Minister, Shri Narendra Modi always gave priority to modernizing and empowering law and order and the police forces in Gujarat, and this is the reason why Gujarat Police has for many years created a tradition of being at the forefront of the country and I am sure that this tradition will continue under the leadership of the Chief Minister and Home Minister of the State

Smt. Droupadi Murmu has received a thumping majority in the Presidential election, her election to the Nation's highest office and the becoming of Smt. Droupadi Murmu to her Excellency Smt. Droupadi Murmu is a historic event in the 75 years of the country's democratic history

Our party has always made novel efforts in the selection of candidates for important posts such as the President, and Prime Minister Narendra Modi carried forward this tradition

Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee made the 'Missile Man' Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam the Presidential candidate and Shri Narendra Modi after he become the Prime Minister made Shri Ram Nath Kovind hailing from a very poor family and Dalit society the Presidential candidate and now Smt. Droupadi Murmu from Tribal society has been elected as the President

This is a response to those who create rift in society and practice divisive politics in the name of empowerment of the tribals and it is an example of how tribal empowerment is not done through words alone, but through actions

Prime Minister Narendra Modi has appealed to citizens to hoist the Tricolour in their homes from August 13 to 15

I appeal to the people of Gujarat that there should not be any house, office or premises in the State where the Tricolour is not hoisted. It is our responsibility including of the poor, the rich, government and private employees to hoist the Tricolour at our respective homes and make this a success

From E-Cop to Trinetra, this journey of equipping Gujarat Police with modern technology was started begun by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, and this is the journey of making his dream come true

Command and control rooms should not be limited to 7,000 cameras only, but should include every camera including those in railway stations, bus stands, seaports, airports and residential colonies of Gujarat by adopting advanced technology

This project will protect Gujarat by converting Gujarat government's plan to make Suraksha Chakra into Sudarshan Chakra

Gujarat Police have always taken steps against the enemies of society with firm determination and rigidity by emphasizing on the law and order situation after Shri Narendra Modi become the Chief Minister of Gujarat in 2001

Police has become modern, sensitive and techno-savvy and Prime Minister Narendra Modi has strengthened their support system.

The Union Home and Cooperation Minister, Shri Amit Shah, on the first day of his two-day visit to Gujarat, today inaugurated the State Level Command and Control Center of Gujarat Police 'Trinetra' and other modern technical services under the VISWAS project in Gandhinagar. The Gujarat Chief Minister Shri Bhupendra Patel and many other dignitaries were also present.

On this occasion, the Union Home Minister said today many important works have been dedicated by the Gujarat Government to make Gujarat Police modern and techno-savvy and to increase the facilities for the people. For this, I heartily congratulate the Chief Minister of Gujarat and the Home Minister of Gujarat. Shri Narendra Modi, when he was the Chief Minister of Gujarat, always gave priority to modernizing and empowering law and order and the police force in the State. This is the reason why Gujarat Police has for many years had a tradition of being at the forefront of the country and I am sure that this tradition will continue under the leadership of the Chief Minister and Home Minister of the State.

Shri Amit Shah said Smt. Droupadi Murmu has received a thumping majority in the recently concluded Presidential elections. Her election to the Nation's highest office and the transition from Smt. Droupadi Murmu to Her Excellency

Smt. Droupadi Murmu is a historic event in the 75 years of the country's democratic history. It is a big event in our democracy. Shri Shah said that our party has always made novel efforts in selection of candidates for important posts such as the President and Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi ji has carried forward this tradition. Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee the 'Missile Man' Dr. APJ Abdul Kalam the candidate for the President and Shri Narendra Modi after he become the Prime Minister made Shri Ram Nath Kovind hailing from a very poor and Dalit society the Presidential candidate and now Smt. Droupadi Murmu from tribal society has been elected as the President. This is an answer to those who create rift in the society and practice divisive politics in the name of empowerment of tribals and is an example of how tribal empowerment is done not through words alone, but through actions.

The Union Home Minister said Prime Modi has appealed to citizens to hoist the tricolour at their homes from August 13 to 15. Shri Shah said during the 75th year of Independence, citizens should pledge to re-dedicate themselves to the Tricolour for the development, bright future and security of the country, by hoisting the Tricolour at their homes from August 13 to 15. He appealed to the people of Gujarat that there should not be any house, office or premises in the State where the Tricolour is not hoisted. Information about the availability of the Tricolour has been provided on many websites and the Tricolour is also available in post offices across the country. It is everyone's responsibility, including the poor, the rich and government and private employees, to make this program a success by hoisting the Tricolour from their homes.

The Home Minister said several initiatives have been taken to strengthen the confidence and trust in projects. He also donated 10,000 Body Cameras, Video Feed Management System, Work Stations, Docking Stations and Servers to the Police Force to enhance, expand and modernize the quality of security services of the Gujarat Police. Along with this, 80 vehicles of the Anti-Human Trafficking Unit were also dedicated to the Gujarat Police today. Shri Shah said that the command and control room should not be limited to just 7,000 cameras but should include every camera including at railway stations, bus stands, seaports, airports and residential colonies in the State by adopting advanced technology. This project will protect Gujarat by converting Gujarat government's plan to make the Suraksha Chakra into a Sudarshan Chakra. He stressed on the need to increase the connectivity and storage capacity for quick access to the control room for any incident at any location.

Shri Amit Shah said Gujarat was at the first State where e-Cop was started. Computerization of all police stations in the State, recruitment of constables, training systems and administration of Trinetra has been done with E-Cop software. Along with this, the inclusion of eFIR a Forensic Science Laboratory was also included in the e-cop. The Home Minister said the task of equipping Gujarat Police with modern technology from eCop to Trinetra was started by the Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi, The Union Government has made arrangements is providing state-of-the-art technology to States and State governments need to be involved. I can proudly say that 96 percent police stations across the country are online under the CCTNS project of the Government of India. Shri Shah said that any journalist can write a book on the law and order situation in Gujarat, what has changed from the 80s to 2022 on a large a canvas. Hardly any State police would have seen so many changes in police functioning, decision making, recruitment process, modernization, welfare schemes and agility.

The Union Home and Cooperation Minister said that after 2002, curfew in Gujarat has become a thing of the past, whereas earlier it was more than 200 days in a year. Out of 365 days, clearing work was closed for 212 days excluding holidays. Kutch was a district plagued by bribery, now bribery has completely stopped. He said after Shri Narendra Modi became the Chief Minister in 2001, Gujarat Police has always taken steps against enemies of society with firm determination and strictness by emphasizing on the law and order situation. Police have become modern, sensitive and techno-savvy and Prime Minister Narendra Modi has strengthen the support system. Shri Amit Shah said the objective is not reached by just constructing buildings, but it is very important to have sentiments attached to it and I sincerely hope that this will be carried out by the Gujarat Police.

Sarbananda Sonowal inaugurates Vaccination Centre for Children and Launches Bal Raksha Mobile App at All Institute of Ayurveda

Chennai, July 24 2022: Union Minister of Ayush Shri Sarbananda Sonowal inaugurated Vaccination Centre for children at the All India Institute of Ayurveda (AIIA) today. He also launched the Bal Raksha mobile app, which is aimed at creating awareness of paediatric preventive healthcare through Ayurveda intervention amongst parents. The app will also collect feedback from parents regarding the impact of the kit on their children's health and immunity.

Shri Sonowal paid his tribute to Late Dr. Sanjay Gupta, who served as H.O.D at Shalya Tantra Department of AIIA, before he lost his life due to Covid in 2020. The Minister also addressed students at the Institute and motivated them by sharing insights on how Ayurveda has now gained global acceptance and what it means for students pursuing Ayurveda studies.

Director, AIIADr. Tanuja Manoj Nesari, along with faculty members welcomed the Shri Sonowal on his arrival. Smt. Jai Devi Kaushal, MLA from Malihabad, UP, was also present at the occasion. She brought with her some saplings for a plantation drive at the Institute. Shri Sonowal, along with Smt. Kaushal and Dr. Nesari, planted the saplings in the garden and took a tour of the Institute.

The All India Institute of Ayurveda, an autonomous organisation under Ministry of Ayush, aims at bringing synergy between the traditional wisdom of Ayurveda and modern tools and technology. The Institute has 12 speciality departments, 30 OPD units with state-of-the-art inter-disciplinary research laboratories and an international collaborative centre for global promotion and research in Ayurveda. Ayurveda is the oldest system of medicine and health science dating back to more than 3,000 years. During Covid times, AIIA played a major role by treating patients at the Covid Healthcare Centre in sync with its mission of 'care with compassion'.
